What do you spend the majority of your time doing outside of school? Surfing the Internet? Going shopping? Playing games? Now, think about this: What is the focus of your life? Our time is divided up into so many things that sometimes it can be hard to focus on just one thing. We have homework, projects, and tests that take up our time. We have places to go, sights to see, and people to meet. Our schedule seems to be booked every day. In between checking Facebook, eating a haystack, and playing basketball, it seems as if we can never catch a breath, slow down, and take time to relax...and focus. We get so caught up in our earthly lives that we don't change our focus too often. We stress about our grades, text our friends, and stay up until midnight to finish a project. But in the end, all that won't really matter. We need to keep our eyes on Jesus and stay focused on Him. Don't let these worldly matters veer you off from your course. Why don't you ask God to help you focus on Him? Don't worry about the little stuff in life. After all, God is the One who can help us get through our rough days. He is with us through everything we do. So, what--or who--is your focus on right now?

Leader Letters

Class officers are responsible for organizing class parties, events, vespers, etc. It's a lot of work and can be pretty stressful at times, but I love being involved in building an awesome class. One of my favorite events this year was ASB's fall festival. It was tons of fun working together with my classmates to make creative signs and decorations for the booths as well as running them throughout the evening. I have had a blast this first year and am so proud to be a part of Auburn Adventist Academy's class of 2015! -Olympia Hunt, Freshman Class President

ASB, in one year, has taught me things that would otherwise take much longer. One of the most valuable lessons I'll take away is how to rely on others. Normally, I like to get everything done myself. But because of the amount of programming that ASB organizes, it would be impossible for me to do it all on my own. The role of leadership I held required me not only to pull my own weight, but to assign out different duties responsibly to get things done on time. Fortunately, I worked with an incredible group of officers that were trustworthy and hard-working. Throughout the year, the leadership at every level of ASB grew. I didn't walk into office being a great leader, but I will leave a better one. -Jordan Stephan, ASB President Leadership is an important skill that I believe God has blessed many people with. It encompasses not only directing, but also Listening to others and making the Best Decision. I have enjoyed doing all of these things for our class this year. We have a wonderful class and a wonderful group of leaders that truly care about what is going on. This year has been spectacular and I hope to have it continue that way.

-Karsten Rogers, Sophomore Class President

Over the course of the 2011-2012 school year I have learned a lot about our class and leadership. My class has been very supportive and fun to work with. I have enjoyed this year so much and I am honored to have been able to lead them. This year has been a lot of work--full of stress--but working together we have accomplished a lot. I have a great team of officers and a lot of other people supporting us and I couldn't have done anything without them. We have grown a Lot as a class and I feel a lot closer to people I don't think I would have gotten to know otherwise. As John F. Kennedy once said, "Leadership and learning are indispensable to each other." I couldn't agree more; I have grown socially, academically, and most importantly spiritually. God has brought us through a busy year and he has bonded our class in a great way. As life takes us places and we go our separate ways I hope we always remember each other and remember what God has done for us this year. -Lauren Epperson, Junior Class President (Jeremiah 29:11)

Registering for Classes

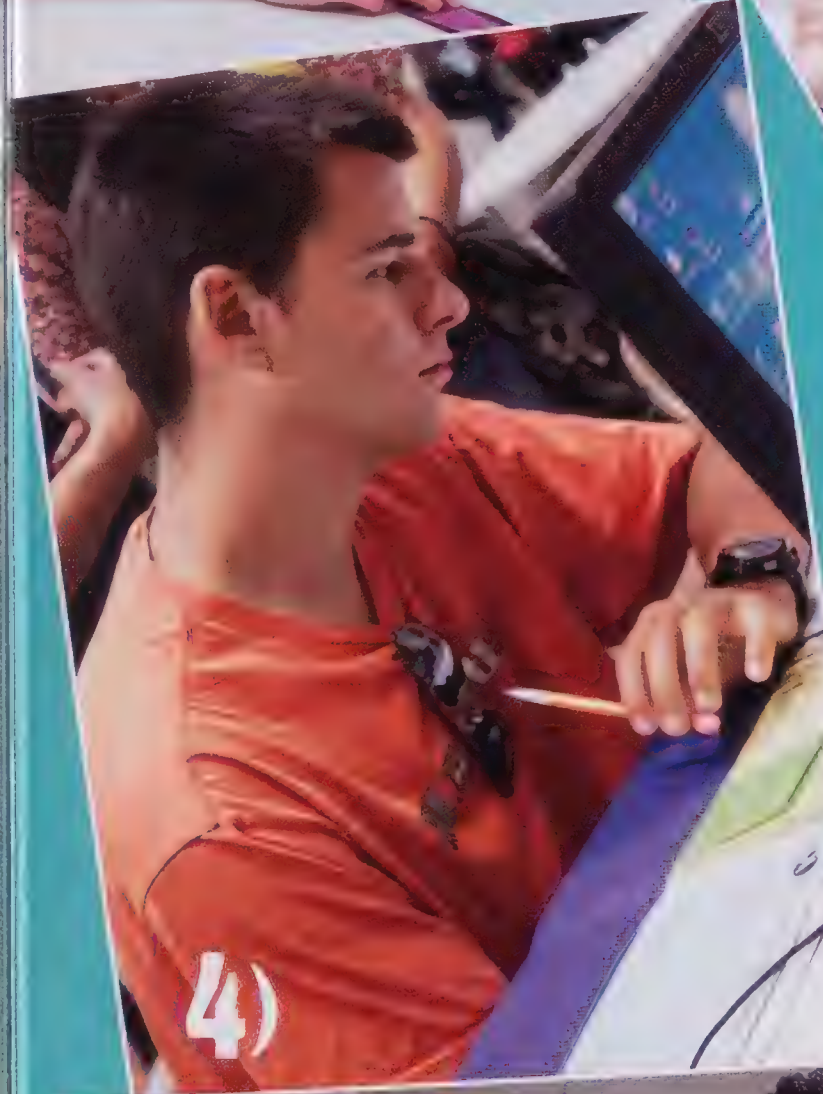

Today morning, August 11, new as well as returning students turned into the gymnasium registering for the 2011-2012 academic year. Students are heading into their new schedule, students were able to get answers to different questions and were able to see different classes and opportunities. After a full day of registration, students were able to get their bags to move into their rooms. The registration was a great day for everyone. The students with their friends and new friends. The registration was a great day for everyone.

BACK TO { A BRAND NEW START } SCHOOL

ASB Handshake has been an Auburn tradition for many years. During Handshake, the entire campus comes together to provide new opportunities for interaction and fun. Anxious newbies and other students have the chance to meet teachers, make new friends or to reconnect with old ones. The day consists of a group handshake, where the whole student body, including staff, line up and shake each other's hands. A few fun games and activities follow the handshake. The purpose of Handshake is to welcome back students, to bond our school, and to start the year in an enjoyable, positive way.

TIME TO SOCIALIZE!

ASB'S ANNUAL NIGHT OF "GETTING TO KNOW YOU" BRINGS OUT FRIENDLY COMPETITION

On the night of August 27, students bustled into the gym seemingly united, but once everyone was inside, students began to split up into four color corners. The freshmen wore blue, the sophomores wore purple, and the juniors wore green while the seniors adorned yellow: the competition was on. Each class began to dump their random items into semi-organized piles in preparation for the first competition, Almost Anything Goes. Students made mad dashes to the center mats bringing along with them a random item requested by Mr. Spano. These items consisted of tie-dye, a boy who could do 20 pushups, red shoelaces, and even a potato. The freshmen surprisingly had a huge lead after the first round of this game followed by the juniors, seniors, and lastly, the sophomores. The next activity called for each class to form a shape in a certain amount of time using each classmate. These shapes ranged from a simple triangle to something as complex as the space needle. During this game the upperclassmen, now holding the top two spots, redeemed themselves and showed up the freshmen. During the second round of Anything Goes, the seniors were still unable to close out the victory from the juniors. It all rested upon who won the final activity, the traditional four-square volleyball game. It was no surprise when the sophomores, followed by the freshmen, were the first ones out of the game. Although sheer willpower and motivation had given the seniors an impressive comeback, in the end it was not enough. The juniors won the volleyball game, locking in their victory. The final scores: Freshmen: 235 Sophomores: 135 Juniors: 285 Seniors: 270. Although the ending was bitter for many, the night still fulfilled its purpose: each class bonded together and left with a stronger sense of community.

1) Whitney Rogers, Gladys Nadal, and Salvador Antonio pose for a picture; 2) Austin Ebner and Arlen Seo get excited about 4-square volleyball; 3) Lacey Sherman and Natalie Blake check with each other to see what they have in common; 4) Yun Seong Chae and Charlie Fletcher look over their papers; 5) Naomi Prasad and Isaac Jensen smile for the camera; 6) Grace Hunt, Lara Lehnhoff, Brooke Plecker, Melissa Siahaan, and Gracie Watson show off their spirit by wearing blue; 7) Megan Bonifant enjoys being the runner for her class; 8) Cesar Monterrosa tries to hit the button first; 9) Jamison Hilde presents a planner to the ASB sponsors; 10) Hana Kramer brings a shoe; 11) The classes compete in 4-square volleyball; 12) Amber Hoskins shows her smile; 13) Tony Chirachevin, Will Lee, Matthew Cho, James Smith, and Joshua Johnston observe the gym; 14) Daniel Hanson and Devon Loeks find out how they are alike; 15) The junior class shows off their spirit by making a "wave;" 16) Glynnis Kijak and Lindsay Hill show their sophomore spirit

Animation Celebration

ASB's annual Costume Party was definitely a highlight of the year. The cartoon theme allowed room for creativity for the students. From Princess Aurora to Princess Peach, many old and present favorites were portrayed. Everyone first piled into Dower Auditorium and signed up in groups represented by glowsticks for the upcoming "Where's Waldo?" game. Students were then moved out to a tent filled with many game options such as real life Angry Birds, bowling, strobe light ping pong, and a doughnut eating contest. Throughout the night, all the groups went through J2B and worked in teams to search for Waldo in books, puzzles, and even in person. The night ended with the students and faculty voting on best costumes in various categories. Winners were: Superman, Pickachu, The Green Knight, Dora and Diego, and a Disney Princess Group.

A Night to Remember

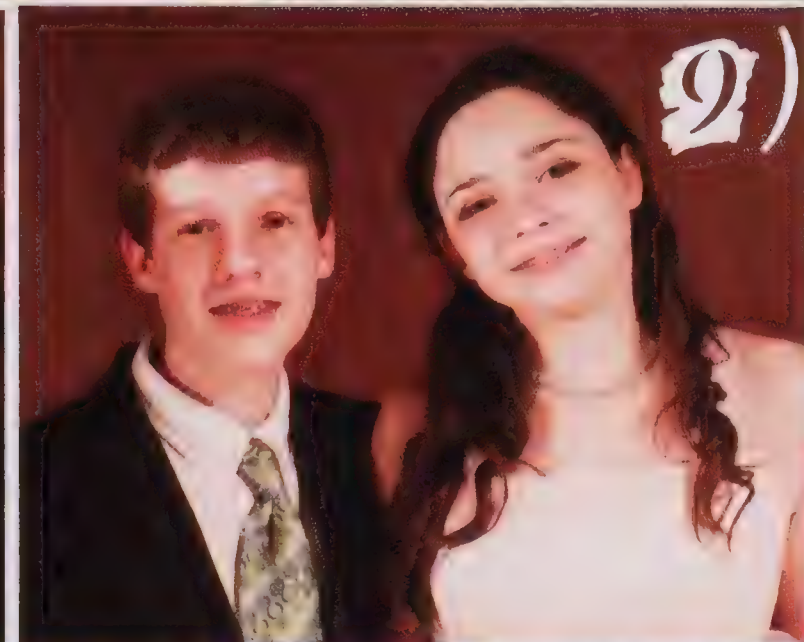

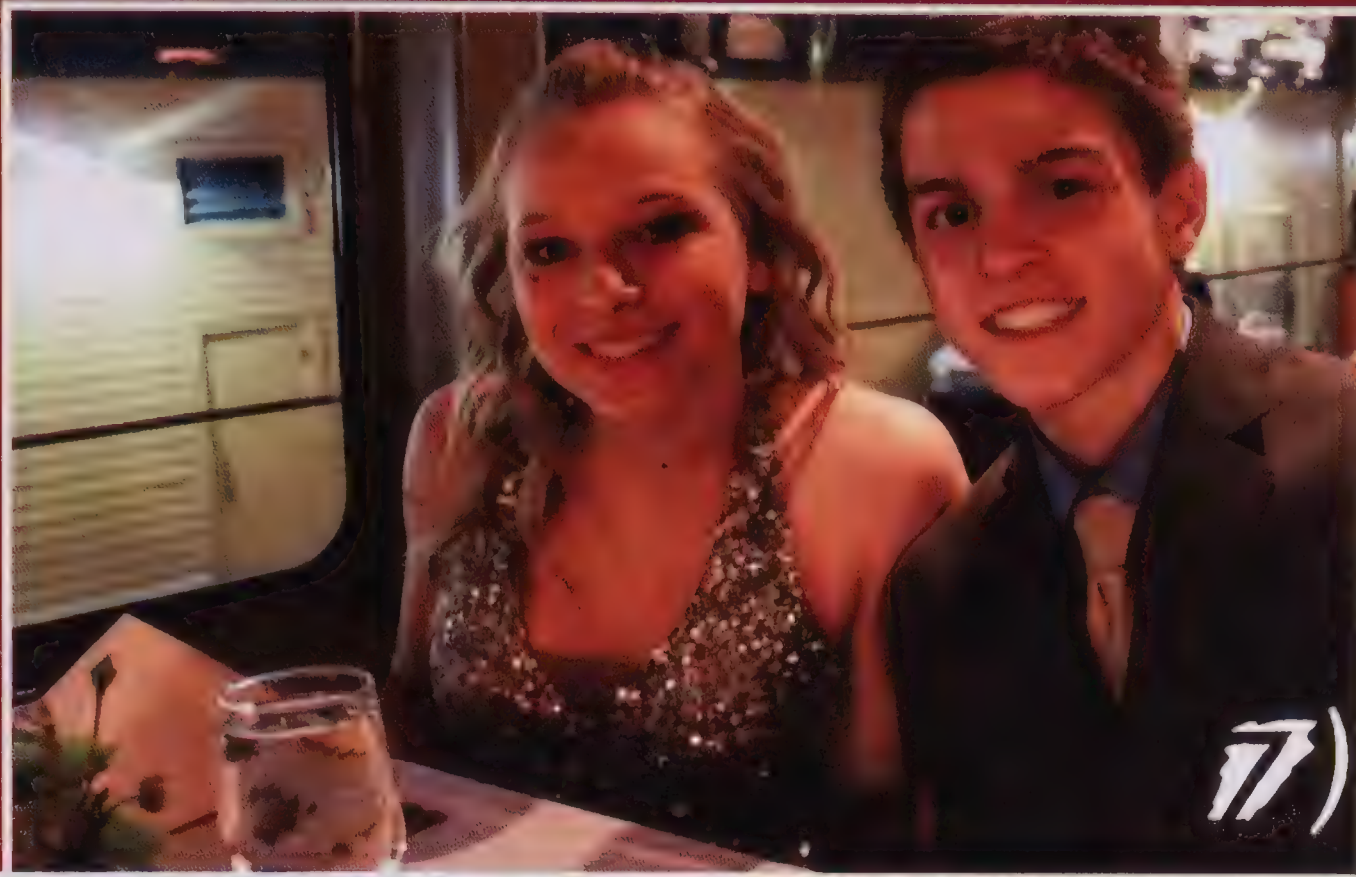

The guys' dorm hosts an unforgettable Casa Loma banquet

On the night of November 13, Casa Loma personally escorted 218 students to Pier 39 on the Puget Sound for an unforgettable night. Everyone boarded on the Royal Argosy for a tour of Seattle's port, with delicious food and an extraordinary illusionist. However, all good earthly things come to pass. But the thought still remained among all students that this was one of the best banquets they had attended while here at Auburn Academy. And so many wonderful memories were made on that wonderful, starry night.

Autumn Festivities

One of the highlights of Family Weekend is ASB's annual Fall Festival. Parents, friends, and alumni students come together for a night full of fun games and good food. Some of the new booths this year were ASB's Gladiator Jousting, Quill's apples and hot "drank", the Senior class's Asian food, and the Freshmen class's Picture Yourself booth. Each booth, sponsored by a class or club brings in many eager supporters that provide proceeds to help out with extra projects that take place during the school year. Fall Festival's evening of festivities has always been an anticipated event that holds many memories and excitement.

SPREADING THE CHRISTMAS CHEER

Auburn Academy students bustled into the cafeteria to wrap presents in preparation for the annual ASB Christmas Party. Once Santa arrived and all the presents were under the Christmas tree, students sat down in their designated groups and anxiously waited for the bus to roll into the cafeteria parking lot. The bus finally arrived and a group of kids from the community ran out and headed towards the cafeteria. This was not your average Christmas party; instead of Auburn students swapping presents, they purchased presents to give to underprivileged kids from around the community. They then spent the afternoon coloring, decorating cookies, taking pictures with Santa, and playing "Pin the Nose on Rudolph" with the children. Ending the afternoon with a farewell song, "Feliz Navidad," everyone left with warm hearts and a lot of Christmas spirit.

We've Got SPIRIT

When you see students wear onesies, resemble crayons, use walkers, sport choker necklaces, carry around pitchforks, and adorn themselves in excessive Mariner's gear you know it is Auburn Academy's annual Spirit Week. Each day sparked student creativity as they followed the themes designated by ASB. Classes pulled together for a fun-filled and good-hearted week of competition. Class participation was one of many ways to earn points. Challenging activities such as chariot races, dodge ball with rolling chairs, twister, and bump added to the daily points. This year the penny war was added to the list of activities: whichever class had the most positive points (pennies counted as positive and silver change and paper money counted as negative) won that competition which could be the amount of points needed to bridge the gap. Each day the seniors left with the highest score but the junior class was always close behind and in striking distance. Would the penny war be the deciding factor? The Juniors won the penny war but it wasn't enough to overtake the Seniors. In the end the Seniors were victorious followed by the Juniors, then Sophomores and finally the Freshmen.

Being the school's yearbook editor has been a fun and rewarding challenge. This year, we wanted to change up the typical Auburn Academy yearbook and turn it into something different. We added a little more color, a little more pizzazz, and a lot more creativity overall. And, of course, we took a lot of pictures and even made our own, brand-new photo website: auburnyearbook.smugmug.com. However, yearbook was more than just taking pictures. It was all about those little details. Our job was to make sure that the colors matched, that our fonts were consistent, and that people's names were spelled correctly. Through all the late nights and stress, we somehow survived and were able to produce this yearbook in the process. You are holding in your hands the result of one team's desire to capture and preserve the school's memories during the 2011-2012 school year. I hope that you will be able to look back on this one day in the future and reminisce about your wonderful memories at Auburn Adventist Academy.

Building a Résumé

Work is an integral part of academy life. Students gain necessary skills that will help them in life later on. They learn how to be punctual, diligent, and disciplined. Some work-related areas include maintenance, janitorial, cafeteria, and more.

if you could have your dream job, what would it be and why?

Zeta Kappa Retreat

Both village and dorm girls got to enjoy a weekend filled with bonding, good food, and uplifting messages given to them by guest speakers Harmony Smith and Jessica DeOro. The meetings focused on how special each individual is and how God can use each girl for good, no matter the circumstances. The last meeting was a giant "girl talk." All the girls piled into the lobby wearing their pajamas and they all openly discussed things they struggled with. That evening, the girls were able to enjoy satin hand treatments, arts and crafts, and a movie. The retreat closed with the Zeta Kappa brunch on Sunday.

Parent Daughter Brunch

The Zeta Kappa Girls' Club hosted the annual Parent-Daughter Brunch, welcoming all Auburn Academy girls and their parents. The theme for this year was black and white and the décor and food was very French-inspired. All the ZK officers looked sharp hosting the brunch in their black and white attire. The guests enjoyed delectable food while being entertained by special music performances: a duet by Ma.ory and her sister Haley Rasco, as well as another duet by Natasha Nantasai and Naylea Villapando accompanied by Praise Tinungki and Kardenya Falls. The highlight of the brunch that stirred up a lot of laughter was the "How well do you know your parent/daughter?" game. Questions included celebrity crush, favorite memory, and most embarrassing memory. Overall, the brunch was a very enjoyable event where parents and daughters alike got to reminisce and bond.

Although everyone was skeptical, snow did fall on Auburn and the campus, and all its surrounding areas, had a late winter wonderland. Students anxiously hoped for a snow day the following day, since most teachers were providing extra assignments for the possible E-day (electronic work day) that was to come.

To everyone's delight, school was cancelled!

Many flocked to Farver's Hill or simply over to Inspiration Point and sledded. Snowmen as well as snow angels were scattered all over the campus while many snowball fights were in play. When the next day was also announced as an E-day, students could barely contain their joy! That is, until the power went out. A huge ice storm struck Washington. Auburn and its surrounding cities lost power. (So much for an electronic day!) A day went by without power and both dorms began evacuating students for the weekend, hoping to regain power by Sunday. Luckily, the campus did regain power and school resumed that Monday. Sadly, our campus was in shambles. The weight of the ice broke down many branches all over campus and Faculty Lane. It was going to be a monstrous undertaking for the grounds crew. That Thursday, all the faculty and students joined together for a winter storm clean-up in the afternoon. Everyone was split into groups, and for two hours, they cleared out the majority of the branches all over campus. In that little time, our campus was basically restored. What started out as something delightful, ended up being destructive but through all of that, we bonded as a student body and really learned what a difference we could make when we work together.

Prayer Vigil

12 Hours of Prayer

Auburn Adventist Academy is definitely a place with security in Christ. Whatever challenges there are, issues we face, or spiritual attacks we encounter, there are always brothers and sisters to lean on. The prayer vigil in November was an incredible experience. After praying for 12 hours, pressing our petitions to the throne room of Heaven, and singing praises to God, we were in a spiritual condition that only Heaven could describe. Knowing that our Father in Heaven heard each of our requests and earnest cries is a most comforting thought. Having a Savior who hears and intercedes for God's will to be done is an incredible thing. He is working on larger-than-life plans in the lives of many students at Auburn this year. There are tasks and things to accomplish with the Spirit's strength still to be done within the next year. There will be several more prayer vigils in the near future. We live in serious times; there is perhaps no greater time for God's people to be prepared for spiritual warfare. To put on the full armor of God, and to be "praying for all the saints," is our commission. --Elliot Fletcher

Going Hungry...so Others Don't Have to

World Vision is an organization that provides awareness to the reality that the world is full of hunger. On Friday, February 24th through Saturday the 25th about 20 students participated in World Vision's 30 Hour Famine. The organization provides support and awareness for starving children in third-world countries. World Vision successfully raises thousands of dollars to save the lives of many children. Auburn students who participated in this event were humbled by this experience and were grateful to share in the fight to end world hunger.

On Fire for God

Afterglow is a student-led ministry which takes place after Vespers on most Friday nights. It often consists of praise music around the piano and students reflecting on Christ's blessings throughout their week shown through others. Afterglow has been an incredible way for students to share Jesus with their peers. This year, Joey May (guitar/vocals), Elliot Fletcher (lead guitar), Joshua Huh (bass/piano), and Eric Yeagley (drums/percussion), under the name Leap of Faith, have had many opportunities to share their musical talents, leading out in praising God at Afterglows, churches, and other various meetings, such as Soonago Youth Rally. Its members plan to continue the Afterglow tradition for years to come. -Joshua Huh, Leap of Faith bassist/pianist

Gathering Together in Worship

Campus Ministries kicked off the first Sabbath of the school year with praise music and Bible studies at Inspiration Point, an afternoon hike, and an evening watermelon feed. Students gathered into small groups for peer-lead Bible studies. After lunch, two buses took the students to a trail not far away for a leisurely hike and some water activities. Afterwards, everyone went to the Fletcher home for refreshing watermelon. It was a relaxing day where everyone had a chance to spend time getting closer to God and one another.

Follow Caleb and Moriah in a caravan on what seems to be a simple trip for the purpose of a census which turns out to be an unforgettable Journey to Bethlehem. On the way to pay taxes, the caravan encounters Laban and his Last Chance Emporium, three wise men in search of a newborn king, a Good Samaritan, a lively marketplace, and lots of trouble from the ever-present, ruthless Roman guards. After paying the tax and having nowhere else to go, Caleb leads them to his father's shepherds. On their way, angels give them a message that the Messiah has been born and is lying in a manger! The caravan then ends up finding Baby Jesus cradled in the arms of Mary and Joseph. The Auburn Adventist Academy Church's 6th annual Journey to Bethlehem allowed 6,000 people from all over the community to experience this unforgettable journey of life, hope, and love.

Week of Prayer is a time when students can take time off from their classes and listen to a meaningful every day sermon for a week. The academy held three week of prayers during the school year: one in the fall, in which Ron Halvorsen, Mrs. Woody's brother, came to speak; one in the winter in which Lee Venden shared about Jesus; and one in the spring in which select students preached to their peers for Student Week of Prayer.

"We were able to bond as a 4-year class and reminisce over the past three years."

-Olivia Hall

"I enjoyed getting to spend quality time with people that I didn't know personally. And the tanning was a plus!"

-Eve Foster

The Four-Year Seniors were taken across the mountains to Sun Lakes, WA, where they enjoyed the hot weather and the water for the relaxing, long weekend of September 8- 11, 2011. Not only did they have fun bonding as a group, but were also brought closer to God throughout the weekend. Activities included tubing, wake-boarding, swimming, lawn games, eating, sunbathing, hanging out, and dodging the bee population, present at every meal. Some of the adventurous took a sunrise hike on Sabbath, and some early-birds enjoyed wake-boarding at sunrise on Sunday. It was sad to leave, but that trip will always be remembered for bringing the four-year seniors closer together.

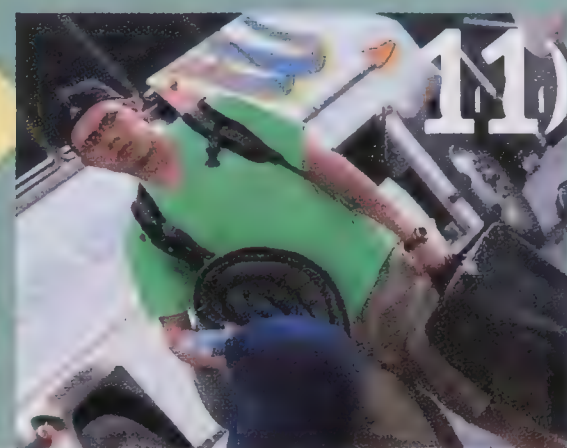

8) Damien Cordova, Zack Underhill, Stephanie Biddle, Eve Foster, Beth Esselbach, Carly Sim, Tori Burghart, Hana Kramer, Jessyka Albert, Sarah Pierce, Jonathon Pedro, and Josh Graham jump off the dock; 9) Trisha Gallevo, Mrs. Jennifer Woody, Sarah Pierce, Michael Owens, Abby Everett, Tori Burghart, Zack Underhill, Jessyka Albert, Jordan Stephan, Beth Esselbach, and Carly Sim go on their morning hike; 10) Eder Reynoso plays volleyball; 11) Kyle Lewis unloads his luggage from the bus; 12) Sarah Pierce and Annie Fletcher fly into the air while tubing; 13) Beth Esselbach enjoys the early-morning hike; 14) Jessyka Albert and Eve Foster pose with their tent; 15) Michael Owens, Jennifer Buyco, Eve Foster, Carly Sim, Sarah Pierce, Jordan Stephan, and Stephanie Biddle pose with their class sweatshirts from their freshman year

This World is Not Our Home

THE CLASS OF 2012 TRAVELS TO FORT FLAGLER TO GROW CLOSER WITH EACH OTHER AND WITH GOD.

1) Jessyka Albert, Alexis Temko, Hana Kramer, Annie Fletcher, Mallory Rasco, Jackie Maurer, and Kathy Phan talk and laugh with each other; 2) Zack Underhill explores the bunkers; 3) Tanner Compton prays with Eder Reynoso; 4) Eve Foster and Anesia Smith read the Bible together; 5) Mai Hirata looks off into the distance; 6) Josh Graham preaches to his peers; 7) Arlen Seo roasts marshmallows by the fire; 8) John Cho smiles for a picture

The Fort Flagler get away is a long-standing tradition for the Senior Class at WAA. Seniors spent the weekend bonding, relaxing, worshiping and organizing the class for an event filled year. This year the Class of 2012 adopted the theme, "This World is Not Our Home." On Friday evening, Pastor Eric Williams from the Sequim SDA church spoke to the class followed by Communion. Anticipation grew as Saturday night arrived and the officer candidates each delivered speeches and then the voting commenced. Finally after all the votes were counted, the officers were announced. It was a positive and successful week-end.

WHAT WAS YOUR FAVORITE PART ABOUT THE FORT FLAGLER TRIP?

MICHAEL HANEK: "GOING IN THE BUNKERS!"

NOLAN BAKER: "FOOD! AND TANNER WINNING PRESIDENCY."

RASHAD MASCEY: "THE CAMPFIRE ON FRIDAY NIGHT WAS A GOOD BONDING EXPERIENCE."

2012
THE 93RD
GRADUATING CLASS

Although postponed due to the ice storm, senior dedication went flawlessly the night of February 3, 2012. Starting off the evening with hilarious and heart-warming recollections of the years past given by Nolan Baker, Carly Sim, Kacie Matthews, and Sam Kim put everyone in a cheerful mood. Following the recollections, Michael Hanek had the honor of introducing our speaker of the night; the beloved Mr. Bob Willison who spoke to the seniors about change. Using humorous examples, like showing his old "brick" cell phone, and informing everyone of the rise of peanut butter prices and decrease in quantity, he entertained and enlightened us about all the change that surrounds us. He then gave helpful advice on how to handle changes and challenges that we will face throughout our lives. The senior class Spiritual Vice President, Joey May, gave a poignant response to the challenge presented. Afterwards, a reception was held in the fireside room where seniors, proud parents, families, and friends socialized.

Countdown: 100 Days Till Graduation!

On the evening of February 23rd, the Class of 2012 worked hard decorating the hall in the Ad Building in anticipation for the "100 Days Till Graduation" celebration; their hard work was not in vain. The next day, the building was lively with balloon columns, giant banners, streamers and the names of seniors all over the walls. The officers requested that all the seniors should come to Dower at 7:30 a.m. for a "special breakfast." When they arrived, cereal boxes and apples awaited them. The disappointment was only temporary. Mr. Allen announced that breakfast would be at IHOP instead and each senior was given $10 to spend. For the next couple of hours the seniors enjoyed each other's company as they feasted while missing morning classes.

Jessica Wallin

Holding a class office during the busiest year of high school is a huge sacrifice, but the results of hard work and stress are incredibly rewarding. This year the senior class elected a group of 10 incredibly dedicated officers, each with diverse talents and different outlooks. Being surrounded by intelligent and motivated individuals makes leading less about bureaucracy and self-reliance and more about being a part of a bigger picture. As we planned such events as Senior Dedication, Class Trip, and Graduation, we fostered the skills and talents we have been blessed and trusted with to make each event truly memorable.

I hope that our class has left a positive impact on Auburn Adventist Academy and if anyone out there thinks we haven't--well they can just keep it to themselves.

ALEXIS TEMKO

Dear Alexis,
As you walk through life you will come to many Y's in the road. You are about to come into the first of many. May you always walk in God's grace and pass that on to others through your many journeys.
Love you more,
Mom, Pops, Zee, and Oscar

Wow, what a journey so far. You are amazing. Oh daddy loves you. Soon, peaches, you will be setting out and plotting your path. Never forget where you have been. Always stay focused on where you are going. Focus on Christ and his teachings and you shall never be lost. Thank you for being my daughter and all the joy you bring to me. -Dad

Sara Khadija Abdurahman

My dearest Sara,
Graduation congrats! I cannot believe this day is here,
I still look at you and see my baby sister (my infamous lenses ha). Guess that is how it will always be. You are and continue to be such a kind, intelligent, compassionate, mature, and responsibly self sufficient young woman; and I couldn't be more proud of you. You've got so many wonderful roads ahead of you, and I am honored and thrilled to be a part of it all!
You mean the world to me. I love you very much!

Nadge

Sissie,
Looking back, we have definitely been through a lot together in these short 17 years: the awkward tubby phase, the Ivy league or bust phase, the borderline creepy boy crazy phase, the boys suck; girl power phase... Not to mention our many adventures and struggles! I couldn't imagine growing up with someone more lame, supportive, bossy, dorky, moody, and loving than you. You really are my other half.
As we brave this upcoming years into adulthood always remember: you is kind, you is smart, you is important. I love you!

Susana

Motherly sayings from Mama Bear to my Pandly Bear:
If a thing is worth doing, it is worth doing well. Begin somewhere; you cannot build a reputation on what you intend to do. Just because everyone else is doing it, doesn't make it right. Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.
Don't talk with your mouth full. Wear clean underwear everyday. Never start anything that you don't want to become a habit. And most of all, remember Proverbs 3:5-6: "Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and do not lean on your own understanding. In all your ways acknowledge Him and He will make your paths straight." I am SO proud of you... God has made everything possible for you at AAA. I have great confidence that you will make a mark in this world for His glory!
God loves you, Neil loves you, and I love you too!!

WASHINGTON CONFERENCE OF SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS

For you ...we pray

Before the school year even began, our pastors and leaders started praying for you. We prayed for God to bless you as you studied, interacted with classmates and teachers, and learned more about Jesus Christ.

Our continued prayer is for God to bless you above and beyond your wildest dreams. God has big plans for you. Seek after Jesus. Dig into the Bible. Talk with God. Listen to His call. Follow His leading.

Congratulations and God's blessings for your future!

Above & Beyond
Blessings
